JANUARY 2023

Fr. Mike has not had a break for four years. Like most people he could not get away because of covid and he also had to do his treatment for cancer of the throat. The bishop had suggested he take an extended break. However, Ash Wednesday is early, which he needs to be back for, but he will be away a week longer than usual.

The Vigil and Sunday masses priests have kindly offered to come and celebrate our masses even though there is a shortage of priests in our Diocese in January.

Fr. Michael Carrie, parish priest of St.Mungo's in Alloa, will celebrate or organise requiem masses. In the case of a death please inform him. He will also attend to any EMERGENCY SICK CALLS. Please note only emergencies and during the day.

Our normal liturgical celebrations during the week will take place as normal in the Winter Chapel with Morning Office and Holy Communion.

"In these days, as we pray in particular for the full unity of all Christians, please, let us not forget to pray for peace for war-torn Ukraine. May the Lord comfort and sustain those people who are suffering so much!"
