POPE FRANCIS CONCLUDES THE SYNOD WITH A FINAL MASS

On Sunday, Oct. 27, the pope presided over a final Mass for the synod in St. Peter's Basilica.

Surrounded by the summit's global delegates, Francis encouraged the church to be attentive to "the challenges of our time, the urgency of evangelization and the many wounds that afflict humanity."

"A sedentary church, that inadvertently withdraws from life and confines itself to the margins of reality, is a church that risks remaining blind and becoming comfortable with its own unease," said the pope. "If we remain stuck in our blindness, we will continuously fail to grasp the urgency of giving a pastoral response to the many problems of our world."

As he officially brought the three-year synod process to its end, Francis declared that it is now time for the church to "get its hands dirty" and "carry the joy of the Gospel through the streets of the world."

BRAZIL JARS

We still have a few people who faithfully hand in their Brazil jars. We support quite a few very small projects that no one else normally supports. In October in Brazil World Children's day is a big event. In one of the areas where we support a group - way up the hillside known as a favela dominated by the drug gangs - we try and support some small local events that can bring happiness into the lives of children. The local primary school tried to have a day event of song, sport and things they would not normally have - hot dogs, candy floss ice lollies. They took a few photos and sent us a message:

"We wish to thank the continued support of the parish of Fr. Miguel. We are only able to have special events of social formation and events that involve everyone because of your support. It is so important for us. We managed to have a festa for the children for the school Rita Soares in the community of Sapinhatuba 3. We had 140 children. They were moments of lots of joy and happiness. It may appear a small gesture but they make a big difference. May God bless you all always. Long live the children!"
